Foreword

It gives me great pleasure to write this foreword to our Spring and Summer edition of the What's On at Hartwell House from April to September. This edition is filled with great reasons to enjoy a visit to this Country House Hotel of the National Trust, set in 90 acres of historic parkland.

I am delighted to share an attractive series of events running through until the end of September, which include History and Garden Tours, Bellini Brunches, a Tea Recital featuring Paul Harris, and our second annual Champagne Tasting on the Terrace!

The award winning Soane Dining Room, open daily for dinner and for weekend luncheons, continues to provide the finest, local and seasonal fare using Hartwell grown produce where possible, complemented by carefully selected wine and cocktail lists, with something for every palate.

The Hartwell Spa has exciting news to share, with the introduction of new treatments and products from our most recent partner 111SKIN, a results driven brand, founded by the world renowned Dr Yannis Alexandrides, based at Harley Street in London.

Situated just one hour from Central London by train to Haddenham and Thame Parkway Railway Station, Hartwell is the ideal location for those visiting Waddesdon Manor, Stowe House and landscape, and as a base when attending Garsington Opera or the British Grand Prix at Silverstone.

For whatever reason you visit, you will continue to find Hartwell House a memorable and inspiring place, providing a warm welcome, and we very much look forward to welcoming new and old friends alike.
